

I want the FAA to re-open the "DC3" general aviation airports. I have a daughter in college and used to visit her quite often by flying into College Park airport designated CGS. It is the only airport other than Reagan International that has a metro stop. I am a veteran and faithfully served my country in Naval Intelligence honorably. I resent the fact that my Government will not allow me to fly my plane into the DC area. I am willing to go through any background check. I once had a top secret access clearance. If I cannot be trusted, then who can? Open up College Park now!
